CALL FOR PAPERS

Theme: Environmental Health – Better Together

NSW and ACT Environmental Health practitioners are consistently working within an ever changing environment. How do we respond to these challenges and ensure we are in control of the future of the profession? This conference provides a forum to showcase initiatives, report on legislative changes, outline challenges and present new plans designed to adapt to the changes facing the profession. By sharing our experiences and ideas we can make our profession “Better Together”.

CONFERENCE TOPICS INCLUDE:

- Disease Control • Disaster Management • Environment Management
- Food Safety Management • Healthy Settings • Indigenous Health
- Professional Development

Abstracts addressing the theme are now invited for consideration by the Conference Committee. Subjects may be broad ranging, but could include a focus on practice, education, research or innovation in any area to do with the conference theme and topics.

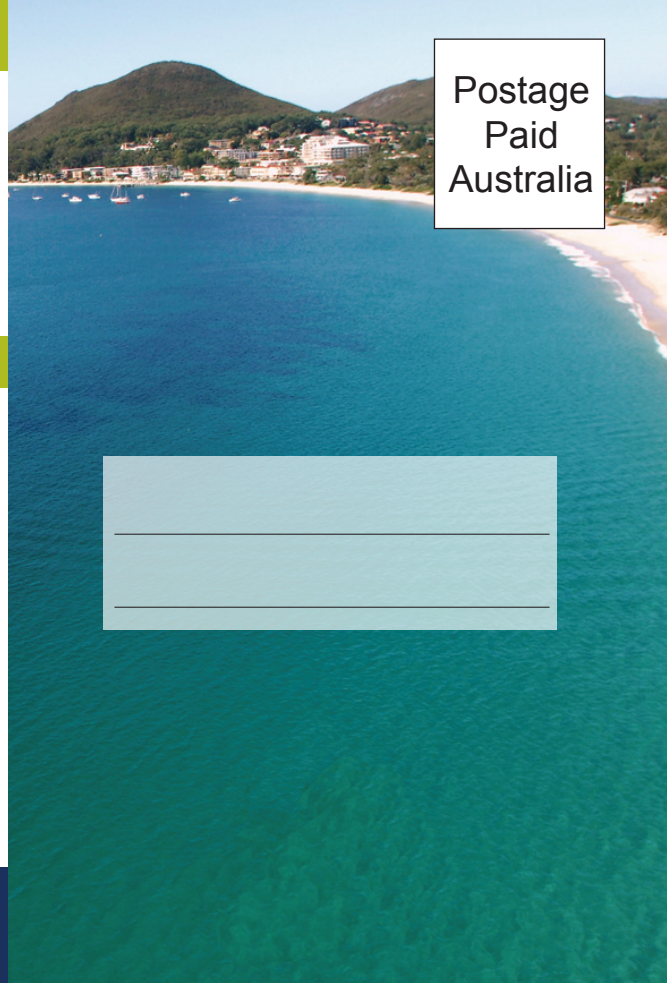

Poster presentations are requested to display in the foyer for both days and be manned at morning teas.

Sponsorship opportunities are available and special features of the conference include a trade display section and social program enabling participants to network with colleagues and develop professional contacts.

Deadline for receipt of Abstracts – 1 March 2012
